Bryan White

For Bryan White, success came early and fast. His first two studio albums — the self-titled debut Bryan White, and Between Now and Forever — were both certified platinum for 1 million copies US, and 3rd album The Right Place was certified gold RIAA.

Bryan White has fifteen Billboard Country Singles chart hits including six # 1 songs like "Someone Else's Star", "Rebecca Lynn", "So Much for Pretending", and "Sittin' on Go". Wade Hayes

Wade Hayes busted into country with his gold-certified album Old Enough to Know Better. The title track was his first single, which went to Number One on the Billboard / Hot Country Songs charts. It produced 3 more Top Ten singles on the charts: "I'm Still Dancin' with You (#4)", "Don't Stop (#10)" and "What I Meant to Say (#5)".

Hayes' 2nd album, On a Good Night, was certified gold, and the title track rose to #2. When the Wrong One Loves You Right, his third album, produced two more Top 40 singles, including the heavy air-play No. 5 "The Day That She Left Tulsa (In a Chevy)". (www.wadehayes.com)

Ray Scott

For many, Ray Scott needs no introduction. Long before his own career, Ray penned chart-topping hits as a songwriter, including: "A Few Questions" performed by Clay Walker, and "Pray for the Fish" performed by Randy Travis.

His own first single "My Kind of Music" broke the Billboard Top 40 Country Songs charts, and was quickly followed by "Gone Either Way," and "I Didn't Come Here to Talk." The internet age lets Ray directly mesh with his growing audiences. "Those Jeans", the top hit from his record "Royalty" in 2011, rode a rabid SiriusXM audience as the song's sales rose toward a quarter million. (<http://www.rayscott.com>)
